Expression Not Possession: to End Child Trafficking Art Contest Entry Form

All students must obtain their parents/guardians permission and be in the 6th to 12th grade to enter.

In recognition of National Human Trafficking Prevention month, Whole Child Leon, a provider of the Open Doors Outreach Network, has partnered with Leon County Schools to raise awareness about child trafficking through a visual arts competition. The goal of the "Expression Not Possession: to End Child Trafficking" art contest is to highlight the importance of self-expression while encouraging students to use their artistic abilities to join the fight to end child trafficking. All artwork should be based on the theme "Expression Not Possession" and can include posters, paintings, sculptures, illustrations and/or drawings (hand-drawn/digital). The phrase "Expression Not Possession" does not need to be included in the artwork; however, the artist(s) must demonstrate what the term means to them through their art.
